

Kathleen's Recent Reads—April

Adult Non-Fiction

Dream Work by Mary Oliver

Poetry by the National Book Award and Pulitzer Prize-winning poet.

Adult Fiction

The Overstory by Richard Powers

An ambitious novel that weaves seemingly unrelated stories into a sweeping narrative that examines our relationship to the natural world through the lens of environmental activism and some of earth's beings that outlive humans: trees. Winner of the Pulitzer Prize.

Writers & Lovers by Lily King

The first novel since Euphoria by the Maine author handles writing and creativity, love, loss and risk, and mental illness in fluid, beautifully written prose.

The Sunshine Sisters by Jane Green

Family dysfunction, sibling relations, terminal illness and the right to die, and reconciliation all wrapped up in a breezy page-turner set in Westport, CT