by Tracy Chevalier

In 1932 Violet Speedwell, a "surplus woman" unable to marry since WWI decimated a generation of potential spouses, leaves her cantankerous mother for an office job and new opportunities in the English cathedral town of Winchester. As fascism grows on the continent and Hitler comes to power in Germany, Violet finds a new community in a group of "broderers", women embroidering kneelers and cushions for the cathedral, and must learn to stand up for herself in a world that is still hostile to independent women.
